

Arlington Residents Urged To Contribute On Blood Donor Days Red Cross Bloodmobile Here November 15-16

It is surprising to note how many people have entirely forgotten the then vitally important community and national services which they rendered during the recent war. Their reaction was one to make the town proud indeed of its citizens, and the neglect which has been shown in at least one outcome of a magnificent wartime contribution is indeed pathetic, to say the least.

Of course we refer to blood and blood donors. During the war the town of Arlington gave hundreds of pints of blood for plasma to be sent overseas. The sad part of the story is that these same people, and many more, seem unwilling now to give any further blood to help the men returned to civilian life, their families and friends.

For a while following the war, this important service was conducted by a division of the state department of public health. Later it was taken over by the American Red Cross, not just locally or in this state, but all over the country. The Red Cross now must pay for the processing of all blood donated in laboratories, as well as the comparatively small salaries of doctors, nurses and technicians required to perform this service.

Blood given in Arlington, or in any other community, is sent that same night to the state headquarters of this service, and stored in a bank, much as people put their savings into a bank, to draw upon it when needed.

If it were absolutely impossible to obtain donors from co-workers and the hospital had none of this type on hand, authorities would assist you to locate a professional donor of a matching blood type, but you would have to pay a fee to this donor, in addition to whatever hospital expenses could be incurred. At no time, now or in the future, Continued On Page Four

Femia's In Again

Sam Femia's, in again! Does he get around? Hardly recuperated from his recent arduous turkey trot, we were about to say, wild goose chase, it seems that Sam has now been appointed by the Mayor of Auburn, Maine, as honorary dog catcher for that city, and is boasting of a fancy, engraved citation to that effect. Sam says a letter from the mayor extends to him the usual honors of the position, entitling him to take part in all festivities incumbent in that post. Behind it all, we surmise, is Sam's desire to attend the Dog Catchers' convention, held annually at Poland Springs, where there's always lots of barking, scratching and howling, but we hope little if any biting.

With only six minutes of gasoline left, Charles E. Davies, Jr., 29, of 181 Waverly street, Arlington, former army pilot, was rescued late last Thursday night from death in the fog off the Squantum shore, by the radar system there, by which navy men guided his small Stinson cabin plane to a safe landing by radioed commands.

Through fog so thick he could not see the ground five feet below him, Davies landed his plane, making every move at the command of the voices of the sailors who could see neither his plane nor the airfield where they were bringing him in.

Davies had taken off from the Bedford Airport, where he is employed as an instructor by the East Coast Aviation Corporation, on a flight to Portsmouth, N. H. A student flier had travelled with him on a training flight to Portsmouth, but had debarked there. From Portsmouth the weather remained fair to Haverhill, but there thick fog closed in, and Davies decided to try for the Logan Airport rather than Bedford.

Finding Logan closed in by the fog, in radio conversation with that base, he stated that he had only 45 minutes flying time left according to his gasoline supply. The airport agreed to cooperate with him on a blind instrument landing. Davies had flown by instrument to Logan, but was afraid to try a landing because his altimeter, telling him his distance from the ground, was not functioning properly.

Checking with other airports, they were found to be all fogbound, Squantum was suggested, and Mr. Davies took a radio beam and headed for the Squantum base. Losing the beam, he came near enough to the field

The People Speak

The substitute who stepped in to fill the biggest vacancy our nation has suffered in many decades is now the captain of the first team. Some 50,000,000 residents of the United States spoke on Tuesday, and the consensus of their tones returned the little man from Missouri to the White House in Washington.

To many who worked hard for other candidates it was a surprise to find Harry Truman leading a Democratic national uprising which returns the control of our government to his party.

It is the members of the parties that were the opposition who must rise to meet the situation. They have two alternatives: first, to start today and to work in any way possible to build for a victory four years from now; second, to unite with the administration in a concerted effort to effect the best possible result for the years ahead.

A "militant minority" is the role of the G. O. P. in the two years ahead. Not to obstruct the lead party but to keep them on the straight road, to help when help is needed by the nation, and to rise to the battle when the interests of the people require it.

Thus can the Republican party serve, building its own fences by its own positive acts, but basically building America's by its cooperation.

The people will speak again!

Supt. Of Schools Hall Addresses PTA Council

The Arlington Council of Parent Teacher Associations held a full meeting of the council at the Junior Library Hall on Thursday evening October 28th with Mrs. John E. Stafford, the president, presiding.

Clifford Hall, Superintendent of the Arlington Public Schools, gave a very informative talk on what has been done and is anticipated in state wide education. Mr. Hall also brought to the attention of his listeners the fact that the very enlarged enrollment in our elementary schools will necessitate the addition to some of our school buildings.

Mrs. Miller Laufman, corresponding secretary of the council, introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Miss Mary Greene, Secretary of the Arlington Social Service League. Miss Greene's subject was "Services of the Leagues."

Mrs. Milton Bretscher, president of the Hardy P. T. A. read a brilliant and complete summary of the State P T A convention which was held at the Hotel Sheraton in Worcester recently.

An announcement was made that at the joint P T A meeting which will be held at the Town Hall on December 2nd Cameron Beck, the internationally famous lecturer, would speak. His subject for the evening will be "Youth the Beginning of Right Relations."

Boy Scout News

"Plan your work, then work your plan" is an old adage from the application of which Eight hopes to profit.

Since the Troop has begun this year with a number of very tender, Tenderfoot, or sub-tenderfoot scouts, considerable time has been given to organization and the development of a planned program.

An effort has been made to integrate the Troop's activities with the general scouting program as outlined in the Scouters Magazine and the scouting calendar. Under the guidance of Senior Leader or a Troop Committeeman some phase or department of scouting is explored each week. Dr. Ralph B. Lancaster has conducted as First Aid demonstration on one evening, for instance, while Camping and Hiking requirements were considered under Senior Patrol Leader Dick Barker on another and How to Prepare a Pack was shown by Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Berry on still another.

The program for a month ahead features The Use of the Compass under Troop Committeeman C. Finch on October 25th, then, on consecutive Monday evenings, Map Symbols, under Scoutmaster Franklin Fitch, Movies of Map Making and Plotting in charge of Committeeman George Kramer, and Map Sketching and Scale Drawing by Committeeman Mal Masters.

That advancement is still a Troop tradition and primary aim is shown by the fact that at the district Board of Review on October 21st three applicants from eight qualified for Star Scout rank. Ralph "Pimpy" Stevens, Jr., the bugler who gets 'em up showed that he had been able to get himself up; Francis Seery, Jr., who won last Spring's contest so handily and topped off with a splendid camp record at Sachem this summer followed him, and Ralph Hatch, who led his Eagle Patrol to win first place honors at the Camporee completed the list.

I WONDER?

I WONDER if anything was ever done about the erection of a small wooden building at the North Union street playground, for which a sum of $7500 was appropriated about four years ago at the town meeting?

I WONDER if Arlington isn't fortunate in having at the head of its police department, a man as capable as Chief Bullock?

I WONDER what makes the "Press" the most popular newspaper in town?

I WONDER who it was seen carrying the book entitled "High in the Sky?" must be a Republican.

I WONDER if the old fashioned horse-drawn hearse loaned to the Republicans by Mr. Ryan, didn't also transport a few Democrats to the cemetery in its day?

I WONDER if the pineapple turnover didn't turn over a few times before it reached the customer, up at the Bright Spot restaurant the other day?

I WONDER if the town fathers couldn't see to it that a little filling be dropped into the shell holes (even 'though its a private way) on the lot across from the Stop and Shop market, in the Center?

I WONDER if Averys wouldn't sell two television sets a day, if he advertised in THE PRESS?

I WONDER if Eleanor Aulenback won't make a very charming hostess at the card party Friday night, with her new Paris gown?

I WONDER who is the hair-dresser responsible for giving the gracious owner of Arlington's leading restaurant, those lovely permanents?

I WONDER why non Veterans are appointed to the local draft board, when there are so many qualified Veterans who would serve?

I WONDER if the delay on the part of the Arlington Housing Authority, from the time the State Board approved the proposed site, to the next conference with the State Board to discuss part Two, was necessary?

I WONDER if Attorney Joseph S. Vahey, of 268 Oakland avenue, will occupy an important office at the State House, come January, 1949?

I WONDER if we realize it is only about seven weeks until Christmas, and that at Berkeley Cue's there's a wonderful assortment of Christmas toys?

I WONDER who are the two cute numbers who are employed by Dr. Beaton, local dentist?

I WONDER if "Dinny" Spillane, isn't proud of the addition he added on to his house all by himself?

I WONDER if the Arlington telephone operators aren't as smooth looking as they are talking?

I WONDER how Bobby Donovan likes his new bike?

I WONDER who's the nice looking blonde who is employed at the telephone office?

I WONDER if Mr. Gott isn't as popular with the Democrats as with the Republicans?

I WONDER if Ann, of Arrow Motors, Inc, hasn't got a beautiful smile?

I WONDER if Arlington doesn't have the best looking, snappiest dressed, and most courteous police force from the Chief down, to be found in these parts?

I WONDER if you know that Balser's Auto Upholstering Company's official address is now Highland Court, and no longer between the Arlington Gas tank and sewer cover 429 and that he has a new street sign?

I WONDER if Mr. Highland, of Webcoet road, isn't one of the best salesmen in the town, for the Community Fund drive?

I WONDER why Claire hasn't invited us up to hear her play-we got her a stool, didn't we?

I WONDER if Mr. Crawford, former advertising executive at Raymond's of Boston, and now advertising director of Avery's Radio isn't about the busiest man in the town of Arlington?

I WONDER if the response to FOOD LANE'S Anniversary Sale, wasn't terrific, and if the management and clerks don't deserve a note of thanks?

I WONDER when the styles will change again, so that a fellow can have a good look at a pair of nylons, instead of the present new look?

Local Red Feather Drive on the residential house to house collection, that started off on Community Fund Sunday-October 31. Circulars explaining the need for Community Funds were distributed during the past week by Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Boy Scouts, and Boy's Club members, to all the homes throughout the town.

The returns to date on this house to house collection have not been as large as anticipated due to the interruption by the national and state elections. It is hoped that the solicitors will turn the money into the Headquarters at the earliest possible time, in order that those in charge of Headquarters will be able to keep up to date and forward their records to the Boston Community Fund Headquarters.

Headquarters are located at the old Town Hall, where a competent staff of workers are on duty to receive collected funds. Those in charge of the Administrative Division are:

Chairman Richard Stimpson.
Vice-Chairman Mary E. Guinan.
Secretaries Mrs. Ernest McNeill, Mrs. Edward Clark, Mrs. B. F. Hickey, Mrs. Z. J. Kord, Mrs. Arthur Sampson, Mrs. Arthur Herick, Mrs. Charles Pierce, Mrs. M. Norcross Stratton, Mrs. Roberta Norris, Mrs. Harold E. Wilson, Mrs. W. M. Germain, Mrs. Frederick Carew, Mrs. Harold Yeames, Mrs. Humphrey Sullivan, Mrs. Anthony Cravott, Mrs. Paul Power, Miss Mary Leveroni.

The Headquarters are open afternoons and evenings to accommodate funds from solicitors and individual givers who have not been contacted.

John L. Fagerland, General Chairman of the local Community Fund Drive, announces that 50 per cent of the quota of $30,750 has been collected to date. It is the desire of the committee to clean the balance up by the end of the coming weekend.

The area to date that have exceeded their quota are District 5a which has collected 114 per cent, and District 2c has made their total collection of 100 per cent. Therefore, the committee appeals again to the citizens of Arlington to support the local fund and in a sense, directly contribute to your local agencies, namely, Arlington Boy's Club, Arlington Girl Scouts, Arlington Social Service League, Arlington Visiting Nurses Association, Arlington Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Mass. Catholic Women's Guild St. James Branch, St. Vincent De Paul St. Agnes Conference.

Social Workers Needed Now

The career of social service work which many local women have given up to assume family responsibilities, need not be entirely relinquished today declared Mrs. Preston T. Stephenson, co-chairman of the Social Welfare Aide Service of the Boston Red Cross.

Former social workers who are now married but are able to give one day every week or twice a month, were urged by Mrs. Stephenson to register as Red Cross Social Welfare Aides.

Twenty volunteers who have social service degrees are needed to assist in case work. Appointments for interviews can be made now by contacting the Volunteer Services office of the Boston Red Cross at KENmore 6-6226.

Holiday Game For Red Devils

The Red Devils will play the Roslindale Town Team on Armistice Day, November 11 at 2 p.m. at the High School Field.

The Devils are playing the powerful Gloucester Pros this Sunday at Gloucester. Coach Coughlin is experiencing the same trouble that many other coaches are—that is, he is installing a new system. By the holiday, the Devils should start to roll in high gear. Their passing is improving with every game. Quarterback "Tiger" Graham is kicking and passing a la Sammy Baugh and he is expected to put on a one-man show here on Armistice Day.

Masquerade Party

St. James CYO held a masquerade Halloween Party recently for the children of the district, which was well attended.

The competition was so keen for prizes offered that the judges, Mrs. Clarence Cochran, Miss Louise Carter, Miss Marilyn Knowles had great difficulty picking the winners.

Susan Brown won first prize for the most beautiful costume. Judy McLaughlin finishing a close second.

Philip Woodbury took first prize for the most original costume. John Holt taking second honors.

In the contest for funny costumes, John McLaughlin won with an amazing hobo outfit, Champ Brahe second rigged out as a "Sad Sack".

The children had a wonderful time and a healthy outlet for their Halloween enthusiasm.

Much credit for the success of the event goes to Fred J. Carew, director of the organization.

Arlington... FUNERALS

will there ever be a charge for Red Cross blood or plasma or blood products, if the Red Cross has the blood on hand to give you. And, if the people do not get together to give the blood, there won't be enough on hand to serve you when you need it most.

Every time the blood bank comes to this community, it is necessary to obtain the services of volunteer workers, who give their time and effort without charge to help as a public service. Nurses, aids, that group of fine women who served so unselfishly during the war are working wholeheartedly in this effort.

After you give your blood, it is essential that you take some light refreshment, as you should not eat a heavy meal immediately following a transfusion, but should take some light nourishment. Canteen workers who make the coffee and other refreshments are a well organized and important group. And then there are the motor service members, who must drive here and there on all sorts of errands in connection with the giving of blood. These women are to be commended for their fine service to the community. They are doing their best to make the blood donor service a great success here, but they cannot do it alone. For unless many, many people give their blood when the blood unit visits here on Monday and Tuesday, November 15 and 16, you may not be able to receive a blood donation when perhaps your life or the lives of your dear ones, may depend upon it.

Blood donor days in Arlington are Monday and Tuesday, November 15th and 16th, when the Red Cross bloodmobile arrives at St. John's Episcopal Church, Pleasant Street.

Mrs. Arthur W. Sampson, 21 Cliff Street, blood donor chairman, said that an intensive weekend registration drive will cap the month-long activities of the committee. Many more registrations are needed, she said, to make Arlington's quota complete.

Registration can be made by phone at ARLINGTON 5-1163.

Mrs. Sampson stressed the need of blood in local life-giving fluid, given to them only by healthy contributors.

One important aspect in donating to the Red Cross program, she said is the fact that donors will get donor cards which give the person's blood type. In these days when RH transfusions are becoming more common, it's valuable to know one's blood type, she said.

It was revealed this week that war surplus blood plasma, donated in way years has been turned back by the Red Cross to state departments of Public Health. In Massachusetts 81,614 units, commercially valued at $1,632,000, were received and are still distributed without charge to the public.

In urging all persons in Arlington from 18 to 59 to contribute Monday and Tuesday, Mrs. Sampson said the local quota is 250 pints.

Four New Centers Opened As Part Of New Army Plan

Announcement has been recently made that the Army is opening four new Replacement Training Centers. This will increase the number of such installations to eight.

Geographical locations, existing facilities and operational economics were considered in selecting the sites to be used for processing and training the new soldiers in the basic elements of their military duties. As far as practicable, men will be sent to Training Centers closest to their homes, a factor considered of morale value in the early months of Army life.

The locations chosen, in addition to above factors, will permit the movement of incoming soldiers with the least possible impact on public transportation facilities. Those now in operation are Fort Knox, Kentucky; Fort Ord, California; Fort Jackson, South Carolina and Fort Dix, New Jersey. The new Training Centers to be opened will be at Fort Riley, Kansas; Camp Chaffee, Arkansas; Camp Pickett, Virginia and Camp Breckinridge, Kentucky. The trainee capacities of the camps range from 9,000 at Fort Riley to 14,000 at Camp Chaffee.

Under the Expansion of the Army Programs, Camp Breckinridge will receive the first increments about August 20. After October 1, trainees will be sent to the other new Training Centers.

It is anticipated that the new soldiers will spend about ten weeks at the Training Centers, eight of which will be devoted to basic training and the other two to processing, classifying and reassignment.

Because the training at all Centers will be basic, the fact that an inductee is sent to Training Divisions designed as Airborne or Armored, for example, will not indicate that he is receiving Jump Training or instruction in Tank Tactics. Names of the Training Divisions were chosen in keeping with the Army's policy of designating Training Units by the names of active World War II Divisions. The training at the 17th Airborne Division at Camp Pickett for instance, will be identical with that at the 9th Infantry at Fort Dix.

The other six Training Divisions are the 3rd Armored at Fort Knox, 5th Armored at Camp Chaffee, 4th Infantry at Fort Ord, 5th Infantry at Fort Jackson, 10th Infantry at Fort Riley and the 101st Airborne at Camp Breckinridge.

After basic training, the soldiers will be assigned as needed to active units in the field.

Arlington Girl Will Wed Tufts Student

Mr. and Mrs. I. Paul Monahan, of 252 Wachusett avenue Arlington, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Charlotte Monahan, to Mr. John E. Jessup, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Jessup, of 15 Crescent Hill ave., also of Arlington Heights.

Miss Monahan is supervisor of art in Bradford, Conn. Mr. Jessup, a veteran of the recent war, in which he served with the Rainbow Division, and later with the military government in Austria, is now a senior at Tufts College.

U. S. Safety Bureau Moves To End War Trophy Fatalities

With the total of deaths and accidents caused by explosive war trophies mounting continually, an Arlington War Trophies Safety Committee was formed and the first meeting held on Monday evening, October 11, at the Arlington Police Station. Present were representatives from the various veterans organizations and the Police Department.

The Treasury Department, thru the Alcohol Tax Unit, Bureau of Internal Revenue, is sponsoring the campaign to organize local committees all over the country.

The Arlington group will start a campaign to educate owners of war trophies, including machine guns, machine pistols, land mines, grenades and artillery shells.

Committee members point out that many of these trophies are believed by their owners to be harmless but actually still possess their explosive potential. It is also known that many of these weapons have fallen into the hands of criminals.

Aim of the campaign will be to have the trophies registered with the Alcohol Tax Unit and advice will be given as to how to have them deactivated without destroying their appearance in any way.

The National Firearms Act requires registration of all fully automatic weapons. This includes all guns or pistols which fire more than one bullet with a single pull of the trigger. Anyone in doubt as to the type of weapon in their possession should get in touch with any member of the committee who will be only too glad to advise them as to the correct method of making these weapons absolutely safe.

This committee is a unit of the Mass. State Committee, headed by Mr. Burleigh W. Fletcher, Investigator in Charge for Mass. for the Alcohol Tax Unit.

This program has been approved by President Truman, Governor Bradford, Army and Navy officers, State and City Police Departments and other National and State Executives. It is also strongly supported by the National Rifle Association.

Symmes Arlington Executive Attends Hospital Institute

Mr. Oscar L. Modesto, Administrative Assistant of the Symmes Arlington Hospital, is attending the American Hospital Association Institute on Hospital Purchasing November 1-5 in Boston, Mass. Hospital Administrators, purchasing officers and other personnel from hospitals throughout the country are registered for the Institute.

Planned to help hospital executives develop sound purchasing knowledge and practices, the Institute on Hospital Purchasing will be particularly important in light of inflationary prices and the continuous effort of hospitals to offer the best of health care at least cost to their patients. On the Institute's faculty will be purchasing authorities such as Donald L. Reams, general manager of the

Arlington Hadassah Food And Gift Sale

A regular meeting of the Arlington Chapter of Hadassah was held on Tuesday evening, November 2nd, at the Arlington Academy of Music, with the president, Mrs. Samuel Doctoroff presiding.

Mrs. Morris Zellin, Jewish National Fund chairman, reported on the purchase of trees in Israel.

Mrs. Doctoroff announced that a study Group was being formed under the direction of Mrs. Charles Kellum.

At the close of the business meeting, the Chapter conducted a sale of home-made pastries and attractive novelties, donated by the members. The sale was met with a most enthusiastic response and a substantial sum of money was raised and placed in the fund of the Donor Luncheon. This affair the largest fund-raising event of the year, will be held on December 8th at the Hotel Somerset.

Hostesses of the evening were Mrs. Myer Berman, Mrs. Harry Karp, Mrs. Charles Kellum, Mrs. David Banen, and Mrs. Isaac Sholkin.

Arlington Park Department "Calling All Golfers"

Now that the golf season is over, many of us would like to begin immediately to correct those mistakes we made all year long on the golf course. Many weekend golfers have never had the opportunity to be instructed by a golf professional, but here at least is your opportunity.

The Park Department has made preliminary plans for a Golf program this Winter. Harold McGrail, Golf Professional at Franklin Golf Club, who also instructs at the University Club in Boston has volunteered to conduct a Golf School during the Winter months here in Arlington. He has had unusual success with his new system of teaching golf.

All interested parties should plan to hear him outline plans for this school at a meeting to be held Tuesday, November 23, 1948, Lowe Auditorium, Arlington High School at 8:00 p. m. There will be a nominal charge for each lesson.

Classes will be organized at this meeting. The whole family is invited to participate in this school. If you can't attend this meeting and wish to take lessons contact Dan McFadden, AR 5-3156 or AR 5-6046-J.

Below is a reprint from Boston Herald concerning McGrail's new theories of teaching golf.

Actually McGrail is teaching nothing new about golf but he is putting across the theory of golf in a new different and wholly simplified manner. For in McGrail's course of instruction there are just two points to remember—a very stiff left arm and hand and a loose right hand. He eliminates the cocking of wrists and claims that not only is wrist cocking unnecessary but the cause of many golfing woes.

The main thing about keeping the left arm as stiff as possible and about grasping the club fast in the left hand is that it brings the player into every position for a proper swing. Bringing the club back with the left hand and arm forced the leg, hip, knee and pivot

Get Acquainted Dance Is Held

The "Get Acquainted" Halloween dance of the Brackett School Parent Teachers Association was held Tuesday evening October 26th. Music for the affair, which included modern and square dancing, was furnished by Harold Donehey and his orchestra. Russell Curry, Arlington's well known dance director, and his assistant entertained as well as directed the square dancing. The dance committee was headed by Mrs. Alexander Mark and included Mrs. Herbert Cronin, Mrs. Arthur Fitzgerald and Mrs. Howard Flanagan.

action without the player thinking about those things. And because he doesn't have to think, he can hit the ball. Thinking is one thing that ruins a golf shot. The right hand is merely resting on the club for lack of some place else to put it.

AIM HIGHER, Said New England ... AND WE DID!

Just six months ago we announced with pride that the electric light and power companies of New England were building a record-breaking total of 834,000 Kilowatts of new generating capacity to be at your service by 1952.

Since that announcement last spring you have steadily increased your use of electricity and in quick response we have enlarged our plans for staying ahead of your needs.

Today we announce that 206,000 MORE Kilowatts have been added to the program. Now, instead of 834,000 Kilowatts, your electric light and power companies of New England are building ONE MILLION AND FORTY THOUSAND Kilowatts* of new electrical energy, all of it scheduled for service by the original date of 1952.

And already plans are being projected even further into the future for the continued safeguarding of New England's electrical welfare.
